An English statesman of the 18th century once said to an adversary in debate, and I paraphrase "I wish I were as sure of anything as you are of everything."

Fundamentalist evangelist Billy Graham in a recent speech before a group of preachers in Scotland (and I heard this scanning nighttime radio in the car) described himself more of a communicator than a preacher.

In fact, he said there are thousands of preachers better than he is. And he is apparently exchanging the title evangelist for communicator.

In another recent pronouncement, Graham said he sees the need to keep distance between church and state, probably reflecting on the distance he did not keep from White House appearances and church services until Watergate fell.

It may also be that Southern Baptist Jimmy Carter, already interviewing various senators and others for vice presidential candidacies on the Democratic ticket, and Southern Baptist Graham realize the obvious donnybrook and resumption of Graham evangelical and White House ties would create, assuming a Democratic win in November.

Mr. Graham is finding things less certain as he matures as one of the world's most stirring Biblical spokesmen. Watergate taught us all some lessons in basic constitutional civics, and not the least of the learners was this man of Bob Jones University, Wheaton College, and an apparent admirer of man-without-a-country Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn.

President Ford in one of his six addresses July 4 during the Bicentennial attacked conformity.

He commended to his audiences the example of Revolutionary patriots whose individualism and ultimate nonconformity created a democratic republic and cost most of them their property, their lives and material advantages in some cases of four generations.

The economic pressures to conform (whether rich, mid-income or poor) of this era make non-conformity either ludicrous or a new kind of conformity by group.

Economist Paul Samuelson notes: ". . .To be humane, the modern welfare state no longer permits children to have rickets just because their father is unlucky, or lazy, or AWOL, or unskilled or. . .But in becoming more humane, the modern system has become more rigid and inflexible."

Politicians, preachers, communicators recognize that inflexibility is related to material values outweighing other values, which is to say those things "not for sale" which are damn few these days.

This weakness stems from the top. The President, himself a basic Midwestern conformist, knows the loss conformity implies. Genius is soaked up by rote and financial statements.

Patrick Henry would be a "fool." Jefferson would be "weird." Washington would be just "another pomposity."

That is, until a new age of nonconformity emerges, which quite possibly began with Neal Armstrong's first step on the moon in 1969.

Mr. Ford advises us well. The nonconformist may once again be the one who builds the walkways to the cages and raises the bars at the zoo. And the imitators and indolent and the unimaginative may be kept in their inflexible clusters not unlike inhabitants of the "Animal Farm."

If the action is not America, it may be Martian, a new place for nonconformist to challenge, to bring of age when the body count in a few hundred years earthwide will rival the depth of newly cooled lava at the mouth of a volcano.

The Solzhenitsyns and the Armstrongs argue the need by what they do. And it is becoming clear the evangelical and political forums are watching.

'Dog Days' Set For August

August will really be "dog days" in Cameron as the city council Tuesday evening agreed to a proposal to have vaccination clinics during that month.

Dr. Tommy Barton, local veterinarian, said he would be available during August to take charge of the clincis at which dogs will be double tagged--one for rabies and one for the city license

Dates in August for the clinics include August 2 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the fire station. August 7 between 8 and 10 a.m. at O. J. Thomas School. and August 16 from 6 to 8 p.m. at Yoe ag building.

Councilman Lincoln Mondrik suggested that the city hire someone and pay by the dog and that the city purchase a tranquilizer gun to make pickups easier. He also said the dogs could be sold to labs.

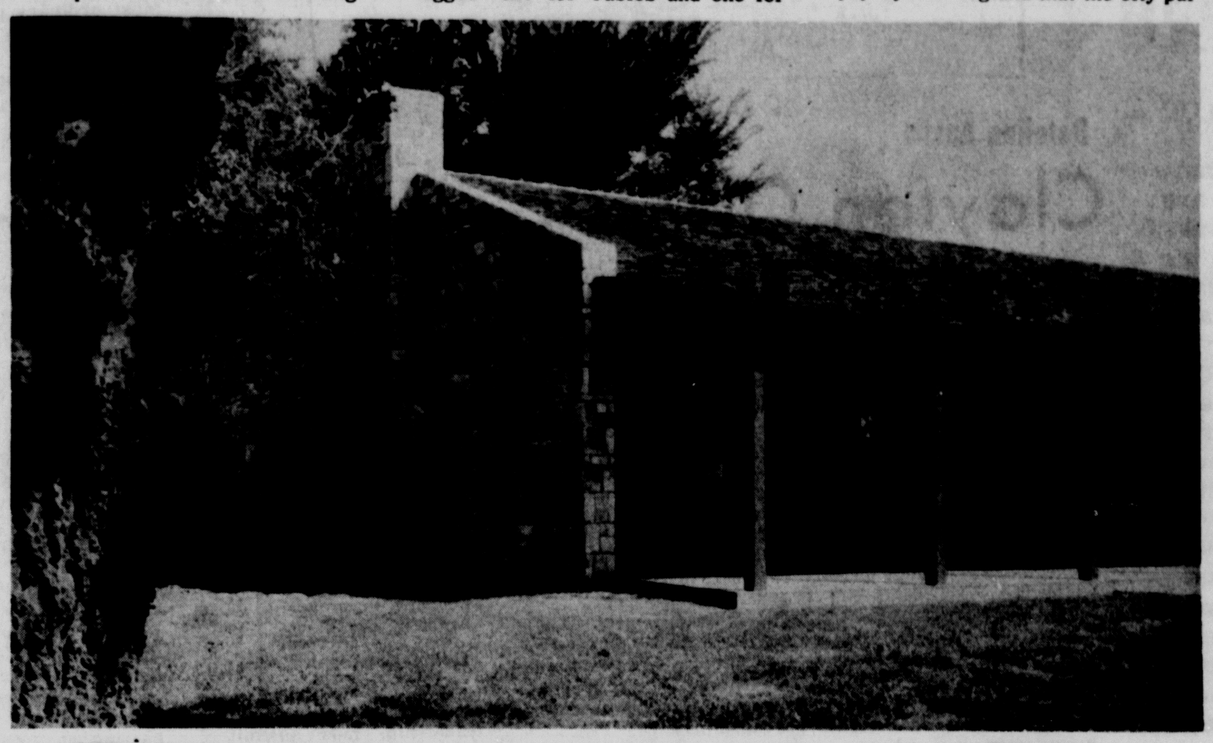

City code inspector Ed Bigbee said part of the sewer project in Alabama Town has been completed and discussion centered on whether the residents should be charged $40 for a tap. It was noted that residents can get a low-interest loan from the Farmers Home Administration to install a bathroom.

Shirley Young of 907 N. Nolan appeared and complained about rain water standing in her yard. A. W. McCullin, CDA director, said drainage in that section of town is in the agency's second-year plan and studies are already beginning.

Mayor Pro Tem Gene Lumpkin, presiding in the absence of the mayor, reported that the fogging machine has broken down and recommended purchase of a new machine.

Councilman Monroe Fuchs reported on the status of a volunteer ambulance service, which was decided to be the most economical. He will give a further report in two weeks.

Tommy Chamberlain told council that the city is not upholding its agreement at the city landfill, with fences not moved and fill not leveled over. Lumpkin will check into the problem and report at the next meeting.

NEW BANK BUILDING--The Buckholts State Bank is doing business in this new building, which was displayed with an open house on Sunday. Of fieldstone and cedar construction, the building reflects an early Texan style. Inside, exposed cedar beams and antique furniture add to the bank's decor.

JP Rules In Death Of Rockdale Man

Death by a self-inflicted gunshot wound was ruled by Milano Justice of the Peace Jim Swanzy for a Rockdale man after he was found dead near his home at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Glen Nelton Beyer, 34, of Rockdale, was found lying beside a country road about half a mile from his Rockdale home and about halfway betweenFM 908 and Old U.S. Highway 77. Beyer had a single wound in his right temple from a .22-caliber pistol.

Beyer was a member of St. John's Methodist Church. He was also vice-president of the Rockdale State Bank, president of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Rockdale School Board. Beyer was also past president of the Rockdale Lions Club and the Country Club.

Funeral was at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Rockdale with burial in Skidmore. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Beyer of Rockdale; two daughters, Miss Denise Beyer and Miss Darla Beyer, both of Rockdale; a brother, Garland Ray Beyer of Beeville; his mother, Mrs. Marion Spickerman of Beeville; and a grandmoter, Mrs. Lillian Hall of beeville.

Fund Opened To Help Cancer Victim

A fund to help the parents of a three-year-old girl has been opened at the First National Bank.

Holley Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Morgan of Cameron, is suffering from cancer and the fund is to help with medical expenses.

Buckholts Celebration Success Despite Rain

Despite the downpours of Saturday night and Sunday morning, residents of Buckholts and Centex visitors came out in large numbers for the city's Bicentennial Homecoming on Sunday.

Highlights of the day included an armadillo race, new bank opening, and a street dance that night.

The opening church service and dedication ceremony were moved from the downtown area to the high school auditorium because of the wet weather.

Buckholts was officially recognized as a Bicentennial city with the awarding of a plaque that morning, and Rep. Dan Kubiak was guest speaker at the ceremonies.

Jesse Mendoza of Buckholts was winner of the armadillo racing contest, besting nine other cautious animals. He and his sponsor, Rozner's Service Station, won the $34 offered by Cameron's Rhein Steins to the victor.

Many residents expressed disappointment over the rain Sunday, but the weather cleared in time for the new bank opening at 2 p.m.

Hosts for the open house were Mayor and Mrs. Richard Crowe, president of the bank. Some 500 people attende d the opening on foot, while others took advantage of the two stage coaches runnng from downtown to the bank and around the bank's street block.

Construction of the bank building was started in September 1975 and was completed last week. Total cost of the structure was $150,000.

The style of the new bank is "Early Anglo Texan" and was designed by Crowe, with interior decorating designed by his wife, Pamela.

Anitque desks and chairs grace the new bank lobby, which features a large stone fireplace at one end. The tellers windows are along a copy of an old-style bar, complete with rail. The windows are of hand-blown glass and the ceiling is beamed.

This is the third building for the bank, which was founded in 1907. The old site downtown is now a museum.

BUYS SUPERMARKET--Bill Lowe, former manager of Red and White Supermarket in Cameron, has purchased the business. Lowe comes here from East Texas and managed the business for the past year. He and his wife, Judith, have three sons.

Former Resident New Owner Of Rosebud State Bank

A former resident of Rosebud is new owner of the Rosebud State Bank following purchase from the estate of the late Vernon Nicholson of Rosebud, owner of the bank from 1943 until his death June 17.

Fred Becker of Waco, and formerly of Rosebud, is the new bank owner.

Purchase price was not disclosed.

Becker, a private investor in Waco for the past 18 years, said he considered the purchase an investment in Rosebud's future.

"Small towns are coming back--the rural areas are going to start feeding the country," he said.

Becker, 51, is a graduate of Rosebud High School. He also has been a director of the First National Bank in Killeen.

He said he has no plans for any immediate changes at the bank.

Lester Dorton of Rosebud will replace Nicholson as president. Dorton has been an employe there for five and a half years. He has served as vice-president and executive vice-president.

Dorton is 33 and a graduate of Abilene Christian College. He has a wife, Carolyn, and four children.

The Rosebud First National Bank is the oldest in Falls County. It was formed in 1900.

$50 Award Due First Load Of Grain, Cotton Bale

Sid Duderstadt, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Cameron Aea Chamber of Commerce has announced that there will be a $50 cash award to the farmer who brings the first acceptable load of grain sorghum and the first bale of cotton to local elevators and gins this year.

The grain sorghum must have been grown in Milam County and delivered to either Milam Grain Company, Crossroads Grain Company, or Abate Grain Company. As long as moisture percent is acceptable to the company it will be acceptable for the cash award.

The first bale of cotton must also be grown in Milam County and must be delivered to either Buckholts Farmers Gin Company, Modern Gin in Buckholts, BF&M Co-op Gin at Wilson, the Burlington Co-op Gin at Burlington, or the Nelson Davis Gin at Sharp.

Duderstadt said the Cameron Area Chamber of Commerce recognizes the importance of agriculture to the area and is sponsoring this program to help spotlight local agriculture.

The two were injured around 11:30 p.m. and were taken to St. Edward Hospital by Marek-Burns-Laywell ambulance.

A two-car collision around 8:30 a.m. Monday at Sharp resulted in the hospitalization of both drivers, identified as Mary Yoakum of Davilla and Geraldine Falkner of Cameron.

The cars struck almost headon.

The women were taken to St. Edward Hospital in Cameron by the Rockdale Police ambulance.

We Absolutely Agree...

No one less than Nobel economist Paul A. Samuelson, Newsweek columnist and contributor to The Herald's "American Issues Forum," finds advertising more than defensible.

He finds that disinterested economists weigh the effect of advertising in positive terms.

Listen:

QUOTE--After detailed statistical and analytical surveys of the advertising industry and function, these (disinterested) economists claim that advertising on the whole promotes competition among firms rather than promoting autonomous monopoly. . .

Further:

QUOTE--The newspaper you now read could not pay its way from newsstand and subscription receipts alone. If some newspapers are to be Republican and some Democratic, and if the parties are not themselves to subsidize newspapers and magazines, then complete prohibition of advertising would hardly be feasible. END OF QUOTE

The contributions of advertising in print media are greater than selling goods at a price. Advertising is a commentary on the tastes, interests, and attitudes of an audience in the newspaper's readership area. And advertising can mold and redirect the energies of buyers who voluntarily seek out new or fashionable services and goods.

Advertising is the creative convincer of business and professional worlds, just as news and editorial sides reflect whatever goes on in politics, society, sport, conflict, the birth and death of people, towns and nations.

Economists concern themselves with what makes the marketplace of idea and product function. And Professor Samuelson reminds us advertising in final analysis comes off the positive progenitor of sales and service.

We, of course, absolutely agree.

The Milam Way...

Bicentennially speaking, it's not over.

The shooting, the shouting, and the formal flag waving are. But not 1976 nor The Herald's projected Milam area view of Bicentennialism.

Herald staffers are getting into the organization of editorial and advertising material cogent to an edition at least of merit equal to a centennial edition of this newspaper in 1960.

We are looking toward more material of picture and story made available through readers. We invite interest of Milam advertisers as we explore bicentennialims beyond huzzah and dipsy doodle.

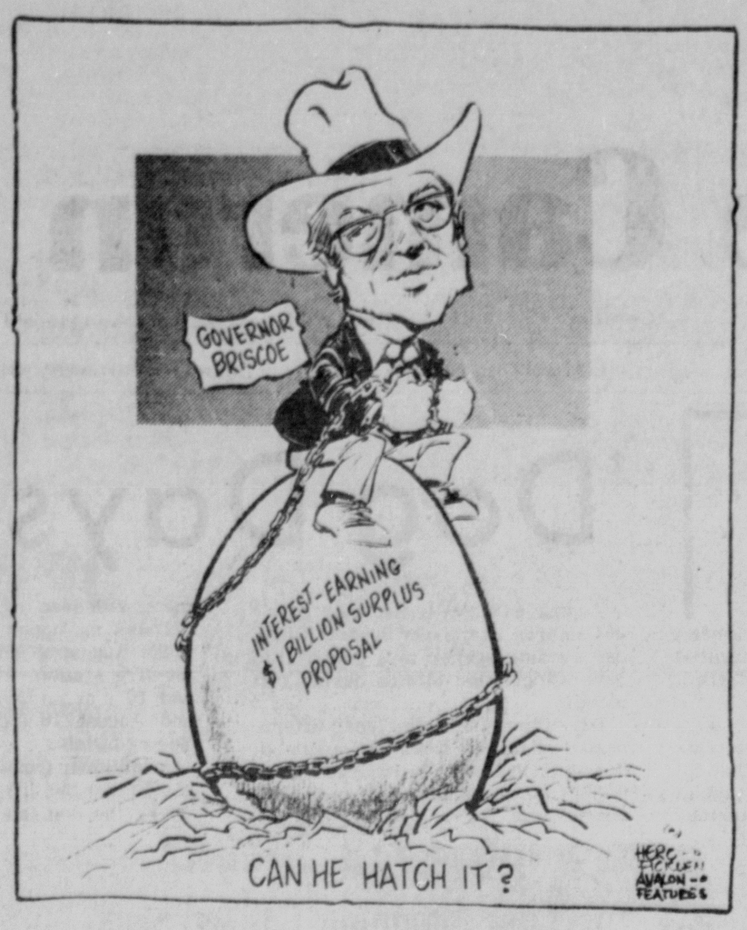

There's a 200-year trek ahead which starts even before the American Revolution, but not without it. It is the Missions of San Gabriel in the 1740s, the arrival of Southern settlers of the 1830s, the influx of Germans and Czechs of the post-Civil War, World War I, King Cotton, the Depression of the 1930s, the lignite story of the 1950s and 1970s, the reconstruction of Cameron only really begun.

It's 200 years the Milam Way. . .

TEJAS 1876

CORPUS CHRISTI—Since the first of January there have been 7,393 bags of wool shipped from Corpus Christi, weighing 1,494,063 pounds. Wool dealers in town say the amount of wool on hand and unshipped totals 519,577 pounds. Actual receipts total 2,013,640 pounds. It is estimated that not more than two thirds of the spring clip has been received here.

HILL COUNTY—There was a strong prejudice and a very general desire that the death penalty be dealt to a man named Ferrel who was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the penitentiary for 25 years. Had he killed Scroggins, whom he no doubt intended to kill, nobody would have cared greatly, but his killing a woman caused the most intense indignation.

Clayton Offers Grab-Bag Program

-Major House committees and Speaker Bill Clayton offered a grab-bag program to save 10 to 15 per cent on utility bills and renewed a call for a special legislative session.

Clayton said he had discussed the proposals with Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Briscoe has been cool toward a special session unless he can be convinced substantial immediate savings in gas and electric bills would result.

Recommendations include elimination of the five per cent state-local sales tax on utility bills and a new state tax credit for investor-owned utilities. The latter is supposed to save consumers 10 to 12 per cent monthly if enacted.

Tax reduction proposals would reduce state revenue about $500 million over the next three years, but Clayton said an anticipated surplus of more than $2 billion would make this painless for government.

Among other recommendations:

— Restructuring natural gas levies to shift $36.6 million of the burden from Texas to out-of-state consumers.

— Prohibition of take-or-pay provisions for more than 80 per cent of deliverability in future natural gas sale contracts and a guarantee of make-up periods of not less than two years to use gas bought under such provisions.

— A requirement that the Railroad Commission hold public hearings on redetermined prices of gas and pass-through charges to consumers.

— Uniform application of all gas cost adjustments to consumers regardless of class or amount of consumption.

ABC Head Quits

Alcoholic Beverage Commission Administrator Luke Robinson quit his job under fire.

Robinson pointed to dissension on the commission as his reason for bowing out after only a nine months trial. He said he would not "play games with the people's business . . . and not break before the winds of political pressure."

The new administrator ordered a series of raids last fall and insisted on strict application of a law requiring 51 per cent of stock in establishments which sell alcoholic beverages to be owned by Texans.

Democrats Seek Truce

Democrats, troubled with friction over state party leadership, held summit truce talks here last week to discuss patching up differences for a united general election campaign.

Texas members of the Democratic National Committee, State Chairman Calvin Guest, Bob Armstrong (who heads Jimmy Carter's presidential nomination campaign) and AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard talked over plans for the fall campaign in a three-hour session.

Guest proposed joint campaign headquarters for Carter and state and local candidates in 23 major Texas counties and cooperative efforts by all factions and groups in the party.

Insurance Talk Set

State Insurance Board members scheduled a July 16 session to explore reasons why companies are declining to sell auto and household policies to Texans.

Agents said they are having the worst time ever finding companies who will write policies on their clients.

Courts Speak

The U.S. Supreme Court, striking down a Nebraska order against pre-trial reporting of facts about a mass murder, curbed judges' powers to censor news media in reporting criminal cases before the trial stage.

The high court left standing, however, conviction of California reporters for contempt of court in violating "gas orders" and refusing to reveal sources of information.

An Austin district judge turned down a request for a temporary injunction to knock Democratic Railroad Commission candidate Jon Newton off the ballot as ineligible, but set a July 9 hearing on merits of the suit brought by defeated candidate Jerry Sadler.

State Board of Pharmacy will appeal a Dallas court ruling that drug stores can advertise drug prices regardless of a state law prohibiting the practice.

Ag Opinions

Placement of a statue in the Alamo Chapel which would require an excavation four feet deep would violate state law, against any change or alteration in the historic church, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—The State Commissioner of Labor Statistics is not authorized to collect back wages owed to employees or former employees of a regulated employer.

—Information from investigative files on individuals compiled by the State Board of Registration for Processional Engineers may be withheld from public inspection.

—The Vocational Nurse Examiners Board director of training must have at least five years as a nursing teacher.

Appointments

Dr. David Wade of Austin was appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Briscoe appointed 21 members to the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Board, and designated John Mark McLaughlin of San Angelo and Don R. Workman of Lubbock as chairman and vice chairman.

John F. Pettit of Del Rio is the new assistant Texas secretary of state.

Regina Jones has been named director of information services for the Texas Public Utility Commission.

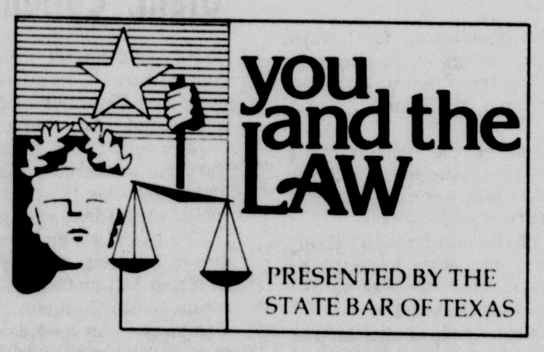

Short Snorts

Texas delegates to the Democratic National Convention are leaving for New York City this weekend.

The State Insurance Board recommended a 5.5 per cent average increase in workmen's compensation rates to cover higher benefits.

More than $1.2 billion in state time deposits in 1,240 banks will draw $84.1 million in interest this year, according to a report by State Treasurer Jesse James.

The new $6 million Texas Law Center was dedicated in ceremonies here July 4.

Q: A friend of mine wants to have a will prepared leaving all of his property to their grandchildren and leaving his daughter nothing. Could his daughter break a will like that?

A: In Texas, a person can disinherit any relative, including children, by leaving property to someone else. Grounds for contesting a will include: lack of mental capacity, failure to observe some legal requirement in the execution of the will, or fraud. However, disinheritance alone is not a ground for challenging a will.

Q: I lived with a seaman and we had a joint checking account in both of our names; he bought me a wedding ring set, but he moved out before we held our marriage ceremony; I drew the money out of the joint bank account and kept the wedding rings. Can he make me give the money back? Can he take the rings back?

A: If your living together did not constitute a common-law marriage, then the use of the bank account would be determined by the intent of the man and woman. If the intent was to share the bank account funds equally, the person withdrawing all of the funds may be liable for half of the amount withdrawn. If the wedding rings were a gift, the women would be free to keep them unless the gift was conditioned on performance of the marriage ceremony.

Q: My volunteer group is going to hold a fund-raising banquet for charitable purposes. Do we need to charge the sales tax on the tickets to the banquet, or on the food when we serve it?

A: If your organization is non-profit and the function is not a regularly scheduled one; and, if the function is not being held in an established restaurant or other eating place; and, if it's all volunteer—you most likely will not have to collect any sales tax. To be absolutely certain, however, you may wish to check with the nearest district office of the State Comptroller.

Q: What happens if the house I want to buy is damaged or destroyed by fire before the deal is closed?

A: This depends upon what the contract you signed stipulates is to occur in this event. The contract should include a provision dealing with damage or destruction of the house by fire or other casualty. Some factors to be considered in drafting this provision include the extent of damage necessary before the contract would take effect, whether the seller has an obligation to repair damage to the house, and the right of either party to cancel the contract in the event of such damage.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I was thinking some more last night about this country's space probe of Mars and her hopes of exploring further out in space, egged on by some scientists' argument that there's bound to be intelligent life out there somewhere.

In fact, I understand that for 10 years scientists have been sending radio signals far out into deep space in the hope those intelligent creatures out there, where ever they are, will hear us and answer back. But so far, not a peep.

You'd think that a conversation as one-sided as that would get boring and the scientists would give up. It's like calling somebody on the phone and listening to it ring unanswered for two days. Most ordinary people would catch on there's nobody at home.

But that's the wrong assumption when it comes to space. I think there are intelligent creatures out there. I think they're getting our signals. I think they're listening in to our daily radio and TV news programs and the last thing they want us to know is that they're out there.

If they're intelligent creatures they've got enough sense to know better than to interfere in a family squabble.

Sure, they're out there but they're not about to get involved in this mess. I can hear them saying "You think we're crazy enough to land on earth and risk getting shot in the cross-fire between two countries? Those people down there, if they can't stir up a war with another nation they'll start fighting among themselves. Why in one place called Beirut it's gotten so the only way you can tell what religion a man belongs to is by the caliber of the bullets he's shooting at you. And even if we landed in a peaceful country, if we're lucky enough to find one in between wars, what makes you think we wouldn't get mugged or shot outside the Library of Congress or in the streets of Jerusalem or at the Democratic Convention.

Sometimes I think maybe we ought to save our space-flight money, get things straightened out here on earth and then sit back and let those outer space creatures, if they're so intelligent, land and discover us.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

JOHN GUILLOTE

Navy Chief Operations Specialist John R. Guillote, son of Mrs. Leroy Guillote of Rt. 3, Rockdale, recently participated in the evacuation of civilians from Beirut, Lebanon, as a crewmember of the guided missile cruiser USS Harry E. Yarnell.

His ship provided direct support during the evacuation of more than 270 civilian refugees from the beleaguered Lebanese capital. The civilians (men, women, and children from 25 nations, including the United States, Canada, and Britain) were ferried to the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove by landing craft and transported to Athens.

His ship, homeported at Norfolk, Va., is currently deployed as a unit of the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

A former student of Rockdale High School, he joined the Navy in June 1963.

County Agent's Notes

Spider Mites Are Bad News

By Bill McCutchen

Spider mites, or red spiders, as they are sometime called, spell bad news for a garden.

"There's no way to keep spider mites out of your garden, but it's a good idea to be able to recognize the pests and what type of damage they do."

Spider mites are quite small, about 1/60 of an inch long, and can be white, red, or green in color. They lay eggs on the undersides of leaves and the eggs hatch in about five days. The life cycle of a spidermite lasts three weeks. Hot dry weather is particularly favorable for their development.

Spider mites prefer beans, tomatoes, and peas but will attack most any plant.

The bugs feed by sticking their mouthparts onto leaf tissue and sucking out the juice while injecting a toxic substance into the leaf at the same time.

When a plant is infected with mites, it shows up as tiny spots on the undersides of leaves. Heavy infestations of mites cause bleaching and yellowing along the main leaf veins at first and later the whole leaf is affected.

After a while, the leaf's edges curl up, turn brown and eventually drop off the plant. If not controlled, spider mites can completely defoliate a plant. I recommend using only pesticide compounds specifically intended to control mites. These may have to be applied from two or four times and used once every five days.

Use pesticides only as directed and inspect your plants frequently to check for signs of spider mites. I have had good control of these pests with both Sulfur and Kelthane this year.

"Ruling is easy, governing difficult."
Goethe

First Bale Harvested In Valley

HARLINGEN

For the second straight year and the third time in the last four the nation's first cotton bale of the new season has been produced from an early-maturing variety developed by a Texas A&M University scientist.

The 498-pound bale was ginned June 22 from a variety called TAMCOT SP-37, developed about five years ago by Dr. Luther Bird, professor of plant pathology and a cotton breeder for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The producer was Oscar Mayfield & Sons, Cameron County farmers who also grew the first bale in 1963 and 1973.

Roy Heine, foreman of the Mayfield 777 Ranch near Arroyo City, was the man responsible for getting the cotton picked, ginned, and delivered to the Harlingen police station in time to qualify for the $2,500 premium offered by the Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Bird's precocious variety was also the first cotton ginned in 1973 and 1975.

The bale's 498-pounds of lint was ginned from 1,580 pounds of SP-37 seed cotton. It was grown dryland and picked from a "hot spot," said Cameron County Extension Agent Don Cowan.

Ginning took place 127 days after the Feb. 16 planting date, the agent noted.

The cotton was processed by the Rio Hondo Co-Op Gin.

The prize-winning bale was classifed Grade 42. Staple was 34 (1 1/6 inch) and micronaire was 3.1.

Producers Ask About Boll Weevls

BY Robert Goldt Jr.

Cotton producers in Williamson and Milam Counties are having a tough time deciding whether or not to treat their late planted cotton for overwintered boll weevils. This decision will be extremel y critical in producing acceptable yields in late planted cotton.

Most growers fear that a chemical application made now will destroy the beneficial insects necessary to control bollworms. This is very true; however, several factors should be considered before making a chemical application for overwintered weevils.

Overwintered boll weevils can be just as devastating as bollworms. If heavy populations of overwintered weevils are allowed to develop in small cotton, as much or more damage can be experienced by weevils as by bollworms.

If your field normally has a great deal of weevil problems, and weevils are found a chemical application is justified. Cotton producers should insure that chemical application for overwintered boll weevils are made just before squares are 1/3rd grown (size of a pencil eraser). If you wait until after this time to treat for weevils, you are too late (eggs have already been despoited by female weevils in large squares.)

It all boils down to "what's it going to be, the weevil or the bollworm." If overwintered weevils are not found and are normally not a problem, avoiding large chemical application would be the wisest choice.

Raising Cane

French colonists in Louisiana began experiments in growing sugarcane as early as 1725, but the industry was not permanently established on a commercial basis until a few years before Louisiana's transfer to the United States.

Farm-facts

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Sheep Feeding Soars . . . Cattle Feeding Declines . . . Another Reminder.

Texas drylot sheep feeders with a capacity of 2,000 head or more had 83,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter as of June 1; this is an increase of 77 per cent above a year ago and 46 per cent above last month.

Marketing intentions for July are 33,000 head; the August intentions are set at 8,000. These, however, are incomplete since additional lambs could be placed on feed and marketing during these months.

While sheep feeding is on the increase, a slight decrease in cattle on feed in Texas feedlots is reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

There are 1,570,000 head of cattle and calves on feed in the state which is 2 per cent below last month. The current estimate, however, is 39 per cent above a year ago.

In the seven major feeding states (Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska) cattle and calves on feed totaled 7,254,000 head. This is up 24 per cent from last year's record low, but is 8 per cent less than in 1974.

The 1,570,000 head on feed in Texas feedlots is 270,000 more than second-place Iowa.

ONCE AGAIN IT'S TIME TO REMIND livestock producers that their cooperation is needed in the screwworm eradication program.

Livestock producers are urged to submit suspected samples to the fly lab at Mission, to delay surgery on livestock as long as possible, and to treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm-control remedies.

The numbers of screwworm cases continue to mount throughout the state. Cooperation is needed to keep the infestations at as low a level as possible.

PLANS FOR THE 1976 FAMILY LAND HERITAGE PROGRAM are now underway. The program honors those farm families who have owned and farmed the same piece of land continuously through their descendants for 100 years or more.

Complete information may be obtained by writing to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

More than 1,000 Texas farm families have been honored thus far. Honorees this year will have their names included in the 1976 Family Land Heritage Registry. Special ceremonies will also be held.

MILK PRODUCTION IN TEXAS during May is 1 per cent above a year ago and 5 per cent above a month ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Milk production per cow was 940 pounds, which is 70 pounds above a year ago. However, milk cow production in Texas was about 70 pounds under the nationwide average.

Nationwide, milk production is up 3.4 per cent from a year ago. The production per cow average of 1,011 pounds sets a record high.

Plans for the day include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 11 - a covered-dish meal at noon, visiting with friends or singing during the afternoon, and regular evening services beginning at 6:30 p.m. with Training Union.

Dean Evans, pastor of Mount Zion, will bring the message during the evening worship service at 7:30 p.m.

In the middle of the giant city, the lake is an oasis, removed from the bustle and din, just a stone's throw beyond. It is strangely quiet, peaceful, giving the visitor a moment's pause, a time to think.

All of us need that moment to pause, that time to think.

We need, now and again, to stop and ask ourselves the questions about the deeper things in life which we gloss over in the pace of everyday living. We need to dwell on spiritual things, to assess our sense of values and to wonder if we are truly living in accord with God's wishes.

Sometimes it is much easier to keep on rushing than it is to stop for a moment and take stock. Sometimes it is easier to keep on going (in what may well be the wrong way) than it is to stop and change directions. The greatest opportunity for contemplation and meditation is in your church. Here you will find spiritual resources to help you reassess and strengthen your life.

Easter Seal Offers New Call Service

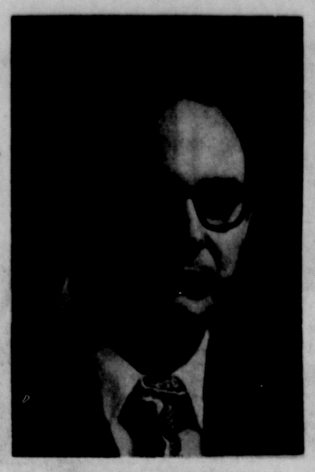

A new service for disabled Texas children and adults, called "Easter Seal Action Line," has been initiated by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas Easter Seal Action Line's 24 hour, toll-free number, 1-800-492-5555, can be used by disabled persons and their families to obtain information regarding help they need.

William E. Russell, executive director for the Texas Easter Seal Society, reports, "Many people, especially in the rural areas, don't realize how many services are available for the handicapped today." The Easter Seal Action Line is designed to serve as a link between the handicapped and those services. With just a phone call, persons can receive that assistance in helping them to locate service they need, where it can be obtained, and who can provide it for them.

Among the many services available through the Texas Easter Seal Society Action Line are speech, physical, and occupational therapies, evaluations, purchase of needed orthopedic equipment, all of which require a doctor's authorization. The Texas Easter Seal Society pledges to make every effort to locate the needed service if that service is offered in the State of Texas. The Texas Easter Seal Society makes these services available to the handicapped of all ages.

Any handicapped person or anyone who knows a handicapped person who needs help in locating a needed service is urged to call the toll-free Easter Seal Action Line. 1-800-492-5555. Day or night, 7 days a week.
